Here fill in what previous course(s) a student should have taken to succeed in the course. These recommendations will NOT be enforced by the registration system. Please explain your choices in the “rationale” (discussed below).

Prerequisite: Please note that all 300 and 400 level courses should have either recommended course preparation(s) or prerequisite(s) Here fill in course(s) students need to have taken before they enroll in this course. These prerequisites will be enforced through the registration system. Please explain your choices in the “rationale” (discussed below).

NOTE: Unless otherwise indicated, a prerequisite is assumed to be passed with a “D” or better.

# of credits: To determine the appropriate number of credits to assign to a course please refer to the UMBC Credit Hour Policy which articulates the standards for assignment and application of credit hours to all courses and programs of study at UMBC regardless of degree level, teaching and learning formats, and mode of instruction.

Maximum total credits: This should be equal to the number of credits for courses that cannot be repeated for credit. For courses that may be repeated for credit, enter the maximum total number of credits a student can receive from this course. g) Explain the reasoning behind the P/F or regular grading method.

Email from all involved department chairs is also required when cross-listing is removed and when a cross-listed course is discontinued. PROPOSED CATALOG DESCRIPTION (no longer than 75 words):

Drawing on historical and contemporary sources, this course explores the field of transgender studies with a particular emphasis on the intersection of the field with feminist and LGBTQ studies. While seeking to understand the emergence and varied lived experiences of transgender identities, the course also aims to teach students to think critically about the political, economic, and ideological lives of “transgender” as a concept.

RATIONALE FOR NEW COURSE:

a. There are currently no courses offered at UMBC that explicitly explore the field of transgender studies. This is a growing area of scholarship in Gender and Women’s Studies that students across campus need to be able to access. Students have requested a course such as this one, and we feel it is essential not just for the academic integrity of our curriculum, but also to meet student demand.

b. The course is likely to be taught every other year.

c. The course strengthens departmentally-controlled offerings for the Critical Sexuality Studies minor and appropriately responds to a growing field of study within our discipline.

d. The course will serve primarily upper division students who are majors or minors in our department as well as the wider campus community interested in these issues.

e. The course is offered at the 200 level to serve as an introduction to transgender studies. There are several courses on gender at the upper division level for which this will be useful preparation.

f. There are no prerequisites or expected preparation for this course.
g. This is a regular course with regular grading.
h. Course is not repeatable for credit.
