CURRENT CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

This course provides opportunities for reflection on the principles and techniques of community service. It introduces students to basic methods of community service; offers background in the cultural, political and social contexts of community service; and serves as a forum for discussion of issues surrounding civic engagement and social responsibility. Students will apply the concepts and skills they develop to actual experiences in community service. This course is repeatable for credit.

PROPOSED CATALOG DESCRIPTION (no longer than 75 words): leave blank if no changes are being proposed to the catalog description. NOTE: information about prerequisites should NOT appear in the catalog description.)

This course, which requires a co-enrollment with PRAC 096, offers academic credit for a community service experience and opportunities for reflection on the principles and techniques of community service. This course is repeatable for a maximum of 6 credits. Preliminary authorization by the Shriver Center and thereafter permission of the Honors College is required.

RATIONALE FOR CHANGE:

To accurately reflect the current course content and procedure for enrollment.
